Without goodwill you have nothing more to achieve in life
Restructuring the Department of Veterans Affairs (DVA).

DVA needs to operate on a type of 'profit' basis. There are many different ways and methods for a 'company' to pass on its profit to 'shareholders'.

Using the company analogy further, this 'company' (DVA), needs to ensure that 75% of all the taxpayer's money forwarded by government be paid monthly either directly in to veteran's bank accounts or spent specifically for their benefit. These people are the rightful recipients, 'the shareholders' of the intention by Government of the tax payer funds made available.

The currently DVA could be seen as similar to a giant 'water tree'. The roots are the incoming taxpayer funds, the centre of the tree is fat and round and with only small stunted branches (veterans) receiving the benefits. There is no correlation as to how the incoming money is spent and the veterans who receive it. Too much appears to be wasted or used up in administration.

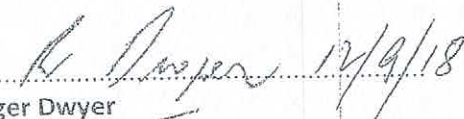

Veterans are the 'shareholders' of 'this company' but do not receive full 'dividends' each month.

There is far too much waste of funds by bureaucrats and tribunals. Every decision made has become complicated and absorbs funds delivered by the department for the sole purpose of veterans welfare and lifestyle. This wastage has been neglected too long.

The costs of disbursing the budget must have a maximum ceiling of 25%.

DVA should be restructured from its current format. It should be overseen by qualified professional business people such as those from commercial businesses such as Harvey Norman or BHP.

This current system is not sustainable we have to give particularly our younger Veterans confidence that every available dollar is being constructively spent for their future.
